

ANACONDA NEWS

THIRTY-THREE YEARS AGO

Anniversary of the Organization of the A. O. U. W.

ITS WONDERFUL GROWTH

Membership in the United States is Now More Than 400,000—Event Will Be Observed by Local Lodge Tuesday Night.

To-day marks the 33rd anniversary of the founding of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, and though no action will be taken by the local lodge to-day, plans are under way for the formal observance of the occasion on Tuesday night. It was at first thought that services of some kind would be held this afternoon by the Anacoda lodge, but nothing had been said in regard to the matter at the last meeting. It was determined to postpone the exercises until the next regular meeting, Tuesday night.

During the progress of this session, the president of the annual assembly and invited to participate in the social session to be held later in the evening. As nearly as has been ascertained, the programme will be opened with remarks by the master workman. He will be followed by the other officers of the lodge and then extemporaneous speakers will be chosen from among the members present. On the completion of the programme, refreshments will be served.

The A. O. U. W. was organized by John Jordan Upchurch in Meadville, Pa., Oct. 27, 1868. From a membership of 12 the order rapidly grew until its members now number into the thousands. It is estimated that there are now 425,000 members belonging to the order in the United States. The first branch of the order to be organized in Montana was in Butte in 1881, and since that time it has grown to be one of the strongest fraternal orders in the state. Shortly after the founding of Anacoda 18 years ago, an A. O. U. W. lodge was organized here and it has grown every year until now it has several hundred members. Those who are members take the deepest interest in the order and had the 33rd anniversary not been somewhat overlooked in the press of other matters, elaborate arrangements would have been made for its observance.

Some time ago the members of the local lodge began agitating a movement for the erection of a hall, and the suggestion was seriously considered, and while nothing may be done to carry out the idea for some time, the lodge still has hopes of one day possessing its own place of meeting. At the present time the lodge is in very good condition, both in regard to membership and finances. The officers are: master workman, J. H. Lalor; foreman, H. J. Gillespie; overseer, P. E. O'Brien; recorder, D. C. Seer; financial secretary, G. S. E. Winger; receiver, H. Hammerslough; guide, B. F. Bertsch.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Cowboy and the Lady." A particularly interesting and important event of the dramatic season will be the production of "The Cowboy and the Lady" at the Margaret theater next Thursday night. When S. Miller Kent will be seen in this brilliant comedy-drama by Clyde Fitch. The play is essentially western, the scenes being laid in Silverville, Colo. The interior of a modern camp, introducing cowboys and typical western characters in the rough, is the scene of the first act. To this place comes Teddy North, an eastern college man, who soon shows the western ranchmen what good stuff there is in him. A typical dance hall in such a region is shown in the next act, where some of the most exciting scenes occur, and the third act is held in a western courtroom, where the gleam of humor breaks through the tragic atmosphere of a trial for murder. The mystery is finally cleared up and the cowboy wins the lady. Mr. Kent, of course, plays the role of the college athlete turned cowboy, and Miss Eichelberg, the lady who with the cowboy falls in love. An exceptionally strong supporting company has been engaged.

In "The Girl From Paris" they laid the foundation to their fame and offered theater-goers a lot of merry musical jingles, clever dances, brisk bright dialogue and clever repartee. The company presenting the play is headed by Miss Olive Ulrich, who is ably supported by Will Gardner, George Sidman, Frederick Duff, Helen Verona, Sadie Maclaren, Nonie Reynolds, Florence Henry, Helen Norton, Feroi Desmond, Tina Marshall and a chorus of half a score of pretty maidens. "The Girl From Paris" is responsible for the success of Louis Mann, Clara Lippman, Charles Biglow, Cherily Simpson and others that are now stars.

BROTHERS WILL CONTEST

DID NOT REMEMBER THEM

Merry Legal Fight Will Soon Be On for Possession of the Estate Left by an Eccentric Race Track Ranchman.

Margaret J. Beckstead, to whom George Casper left his earthly possessions when he died on Oct. 4 in the district court yesterday, when the will was being proved, testified that when her benefactor was alive she had frequently told him that she did not desire him to leave his property to her. She also swore that in frequent conversations held with Casper, the latter said that he would rather that his property went to the country than come into the possession of his brothers. One of the brothers referred to was an interested listener while Mrs. Beckstead was giving her testimony, before Clerk of the Court Thomas, and he said that this brother is the one who will contest the will.

George Casper was an eccentric ranchman who lived near Race Track in Deer Lodge. He died on Oct. 4 of this year, and four days after his death his will was offered for probate by Mrs. Margaret Beckstead, wife of a neighbor. By the provisions of the will every cent of the property possessed at the time of his death was given to Mrs. Beckstead, with the single exception of $10, which the testator bequeathed to his mother, Maria Casper. The value of the property bequeathed is estimated at about $3,000.

At the hearing yesterday Mrs. Beckstead testified that the will was left in her possession by Casper shortly after it was executed. Messrs. Miller and Muir, who were witnesses, testified to the authenticity of the document. At the conclusion of the hearing letters of administration were granted to the beneficiary, Mrs. Beckstead, conditionally upon her filing a bond in the sum of $1,400.

In addition to the mother named in the will, Casper left four surviving brothers, John, Henry, Thomas, and Peter. They have a year in which to contest the will, but it is understood that proceedings to this end will be instituted within the next few weeks.

MISCELLANY DAY IN THE LITERARY CLUB

Interested Papers on "Heine" and the "Grimm Brothers" Read—Regular Course in German History at the Next Meeting.

Yesterday was "miscellany" day in the Woman's Literary club of Anacoda. Instead of going on with the different periods in German history, which forms the club's work for the year, those on the programme were allowed any subject relating to men of prominence who lived in Germany between the time of the reformation and Charles V.

The first paper of the afternoon was read by Mrs. T. D. Fitzgerald, who chose as her subject, "Heine." Mrs. Fitzgerald began by detailing the prominent position occupied in the literature of the world by the German poet of that name. She took up the life of Heine and interestingly led her listeners through the vicissitudes of his life until he began to produce the works that made him famous.

"The Grimm Brothers" was the topic of Miss Helena Gleeson's paper. She recounted the different writings of the Grimms and the effect they produced upon the people of that age. The different styles in which they wrote and the various subjects they handled formed a very interesting portion of Miss Gleeson's paper.

Owing to the absence of Miss Teresa O'Donnell, under whose direction recent events were to have been discussed, Mrs. D. Cohen, sr., was chosen in her place. While several topics of interest were talked of the abduction of Miss Stone by the brigands received the greater attention.

Last year the club entertained one of the literary clubs of Butte, and so fortunate was the affair that many of the ladies are in the habit of repeating this season. It has also been the custom for the local club and one or two

PROFESSOR TEN ICHI.

He and His Company Give a Wonderful Performance at the Margaret.

There was not a large audience at the Margaret theater last evening to witness the performance given by professor Ten Ichi and his troupe of puzzle even the elder Herrmann, and one that grew enthusiastic over the marvelous wrought on the stage.

Most of the ledgerman experts who are on the stage are palmer in the main. Herrmann and Keller are especially skilled in the art of juggling with Ten Ichi occupies a portion of his performance, but it is such palming as is seldom seen. His work is absolutely perfect in that line and some of the most difficult of hand excell anything ever seen here before. But palming is by no means all of his performance. There are tricks included in the programme that would puzzle even the elder Herrmann, and would put his Indian box trick to shame.

The fountain trick is one. In it Professor Ten Ichi produces at will a fountain of real water from any object at which he may direct his attention. There is an illusion trick also in which a boy is suspended in midair with no apparent support, while the professor simply waves his hand. The professor produces a line of flags of all nations that stretches clear across the stage.

Two young Japanese girls and two boys who might be their brothers are included in the company. They also do sleight-of-hand tricks almost as marvelous as that of the professor, and do them so gracefully and with such evident youthful joy in the work that the tricks are all the more interesting. When the girls dance a serenade, the dance in which all kinds of quaint Japanese designs are thrown by the stereopticon upon her ample draperies. Altogether the performance is a delightful and an interesting one.

IN THE POLICE COURT.

Small Batch of Offenders Arraigned Before Judge Hayes.

Jack McDonald, arrested on the charge of abusing Special Officer Trudell several nights ago, was last night found guilty by Police Judge Hayes. Sentence will be pronounced Monday morning. As soon as the judgment of the court was announced the defendant's lawyer gave notice of an appeal. The reason given by McDonald's attorney for appealing the case was that in the complaint it was stated that the disturbance was committed in the year 190, which he held to be an utter impossibility.

City Attorney Sawyer had examined several witnesses concerning the case when the mistake in the complaint was discovered. The city attorney asked if it be amended, but the attorney for the defense held that no change could be made and moved that the case be dismissed. His motion was overruled by the court, who found the defendant guilty.

Trudell's story of the affair, as previously related, was that McDonald attacked him some nights ago. In the charge McDonald was pronounced by Joseph Griffith, who was next brought up for trial. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10, but sentence was suspended during good behavior.

Ruby Phelan, a woman of the red light district, was brought up on the charge of entering the cabin of J. H. Lee on Friday night and stealing $10. As no material evidence could be produced against her she was discharged. George McCarthy was up on the charge of being out of the earnings of Ruby Phelan. He pleaded not guilty. Evidence was introduced to show that he had been living with the woman and at the conclusion of the hearing Judge Hayes said that McCarthy could find any respectable citizen to swear that
