

Irish National League.

TRALEE BRANCH.

On Sunday last, the usual weekly meeting of the re-organised branch was held in the League rooms, Upper Oasle-street.

Mr Wm FLYNN (provisional chairman) presided.

Others present—Messrs T O'Riordan, T.C.; M Keating, J M O'Donnell, C Moroney, J Leahy, T.C.; R Kelly, T.C.; G Fitzgerald, G O'Connor, J Slattery, P Sheehy, J Walpole, G Nagle, W O'Donnell, D Dilane, etc.

The minutes of the last meeting were first read and signed.

Mr Keating proposed a resolution which was passed unanimously, expressing sympathy with Mr Wm O'Brien, for the cowardly attack made upon him by the Orange rowdies of Toronto, and admiration of his courage and patriotism in pleading the cause of the oppressed tenants of Luggacurran.

Owing to the increase in the number of members, the question was discussed as to when the election of permanent officers will take place. Several propositions were put before the meeting, but a majority of those present voted in favour of holding the election on this day fortnight, if the provisional committee think it desirable to do so.

During the discussion it was announced that the ballot system will come into force from this forward.

On the motion of Mr Fitzgerald, a resolution was unanimously passed, that any member who did not pay his subscription within a month from the day of his election be struck off the list.

Several new members were proposed, and many who have already joined paid their subscriptions and received their cards of membership.

A full attendance of the members is expected at each meeting now before the election of officers as there are many important questions to be discussed.

In bringing the proceedings to a close, the chairman congratulated those present upon the good work they were doing in building up once more a successful and united branch in Tralee.—Adjourned.

ABBEYDORNEY BRANCH.

The usual fortnightly meeting of the above Branch was held on Sunday last, the 29th May.

The Rev T H BROSANAN, P.P., presided. Amongst those present were—Messrs N G Scollard, V.P.; Garrett Fitzgerald, P.L.G.; W D Barrett, treasurer; D F O'Connor, hon secretary; Florence O'Sullivan, Jeremiah Lawlor, Michael Fitzgerald, Aulane; Jeremiah O'Leary, William O'Connor, Timothy Crowley, Robert Stack, G N Scollard, Patrick Evans, Michael King, Peter McQuinn, Jeremiah Coffey, James Coffey, John Moloney, John O'Brien, Michael Rahilly.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr N G Scollard proposed, and Mr W D Barrett seconded the following resolutions:—"That we sympathise with Mr William O'Brien in his escape from the murderous attempts made upon him by the hired Orange fanatics of Canada, whose masters could resort to no other argument against truth and justice than that of the bludgeon and bullet."

"That we congratulate the Rev Fathers Keller and Ryan in their release from prison, notwithstanding, as when Judge Boyd first laid foul hands upon them."

As was stated in the report of the last meeting this was the day appointed for the election of officers and committee. Owing to the fewness of those who have renewed their subscriptions the election was deferred for a fortnight.

The rev chairman said he could not understand why people were holding aloof. The only reason he could assign was that he thought a few took it into their heads that their feelings had been outraged. If they think so why do they not come to the meeting like men and give expression to their feelings, and let the meeting decide whether they have been unfairly treated or not, and not be endeavouring to keep others away, by placing waters in a false light. He believed an ambition for honorary positions was the principal cause.

A Voice—Some of us are blamed by certain parties for joining the League.

Mr Florence O'Sullivan—When you see any of those parties to whom you refer, say to them that you have linked on your side O S Parnell and the great Irish party, the illustrious Archbishops of Cashel and Dublin, the Bishops and Priests of Ireland, and ask them to place those in his company beside them, and see which are the most respectable to be associated with (cheers.)

A few labourers complained that the rents fixed on the cottages could not be paid, and stated that in other electoral divisions they had not been so high.

This matter led to an exhaustive discussion, in which several prominent ratepayers joined. The rev chairman said that the ratepayers and labourers were monstrously handicapped with regard to those cottages by the barrenness of official salaries, and that the several National League Branches ought to take care to call upon the guardians who are members, and endeavour to remove such a crying disgrace. At all events they should see that salaried officials obtain no money only such as competition would permit.

Mr Florence O'Sullivan concurred with the chairman that the money paid to officials under the Labourers' Act were entirely too great, and went on to say that he foresaw these differences when no uniformity was observed in fixing the rents of those cottages. Now (he said), I would submit what I think can defy contradiction, that the landlord cannot live without rent, that rent cannot be paid without labour, and that labour cannot be given without hire—consequently the fixing of the rents of labourers' cottages is a question in which all classes are interested. In fixing those rents, I would suggest what to my mind is the only economical way out of the difficulty—"To place one-third of the cost of each cottage and plot on the labourer, and two-thirds on the farmer—that is, on the rate, which would compel the landlord to pay half. That would place one-third on the labourer, one-third on the farmer, and one-third on the landlord."

Mr O'Sullivan concluded by saying that these boards were too much in the hands of our enemies as at present constituted, and that our protest would only be effective when Home Rule would be gained, and in order to gain that we should one and all join under the banner of the National League, under the leadership of Charles Stuart Parnell.—Adjourned.

Hobbery and attempted Bank Fraud by a Policeman.

On Saturday morning last a policeman named Patrick Barry, who was on leave attempted to defraud the National Bank here, of £200, the order of which he had previously stolen from a butter merchant. It appears that Barry, who is a policeman stationed at Dingle, came here on Thursday night last, and remained at Mr Teahan's. A man named Reid, of Cork, came to Tralee for the purpose of attending the Listowel market, as representative of Mr Clancy, a butter merchant, remained at the same hotel and slept in the same room as Barry. On Friday morning, Mr Reid left for Listowel, and missed the order for £200, which he had in his possession the day before, and on discovering this fact he told the Manager, Mr James O'Connor, to stop payment. Barry accompanied him to Listowel and returned at three o'clock. No trace of the draft was found until Saturday morning when about ten o'clock Barry presented himself at the door of the manager's private residence. The porter showed him the offices which were just open, and on presenting the order for payment, the Manager asked him to write his name, knowing that the order was to the credit of Mr Reid whose name Barry put on the back of it. Without arousing his suspicions he tried to secure his arrest, but Barry escaped before any policeman could be found. Subsequently he was arrested by Sergeant Barrett, and brought before Mr Cecil Roche and remanded. Barry had 12 years service, and it is believed he is not of sound mind.

Extraordinary Scene at an Eviction.

The most extraordinary scenes yet witnessed at an Irish eviction occurred at Boddyke on Friday, when the Sub-Sheriff of Clare, Mr James M'Mahon was struck down with epilepsy in front of the house of the first tenant to be evicted, and the proceedings were forthwith abandoned amid indescribable excitement. There were in all five hundred police and military protecting the sheriff and twenty Emergency men. At the house of the first tenant, Margaret M'Mahon, widow, holding some fourteen acres, these premises were found barricaded in a most effective manner. The windows and doorway were blocked with trunks of trees wedged firmly together fifteen men being outside the house to render further assistance. When the military and police reached the place the people were cleared off, but they crowded on the ditches and house tops, cheering and groaning with dining effect. Father Murphy, P.P., Boddyke, and several other priests were present, and while matters were progressing amid the utmost tumult the sub-sheriff was seen to suddenly fall in the midst of his armed guard, whereupon the people became frantic, the occurrence being looked on by the crowds huzzing and in the most intense state of excitement as a visitation of Providence to prevent the evictions. It was at once seen that Mr M'Mahon was attacked by a fit of epilepsy. His face grew black, and blood oozed from his mouth. His clothing was opened, and when his case of revolvers were observed the crowds groaned and shouted, the women, being if possible, more demonstrative than the men. Medical aid was brought after some delay, and Dr Raymond prescribed for Mr M'Mahon, who gradually rallied only to get two or three more relapses. While he lay prostrated on the ground, the people—men and women—continued shouting in the most vociferous manner, the cheers being taken up by those inside the house. In the end the evictions had to be abandoned, the expedition, returning to Fortanne amidst the indescribable outburst of popular feeling.

Mr Gladstone and Mr Chamberlain.

London Monday. Mr Andrews, one of Mr Chamberlain's constituents, having written to Mr Gladstone urging immediate efforts to re-unite the Liberal party and sent the right hon gentleman Mr Chamberlain's answer to a communication on the same subject. Mr Gladstone writes—"I have seen, I think (rightly or wrongly ascribed) Mr Chamberlain's proposal to strike out of the Irish bill the clause relating to the Irish members and to introduce into it consequential amendments." These cannot be the words intended by Mr Wooding, as they might perfectly well include the virtual transformation of the measure and the destruction of its efficacy."

Mr O'Brien's Bodyguard.

Buffalo, May 19. A party of Buffalo Irishmen returned this morning from Toronto, where they went on Monday to see that O'Brien got fair play. Bartholomew Wolf, the head of the Buffalo O'Brien Club, said:—"There were forty of us from this city, and the other clubs were from Lockport, Syracuse, Rochester, Detroit, Chicago, St Louis, and New Orleans. Our plan was to remain perfectly quiet, and to show our hand only in case of absolute necessity. A street brawl was of no consequence to us, but the first shot fired was to be the signal for a general onslaught. All were armed with revolvers—each had a seven shooter and forty rounds of cartridges. If a single shot had been fired at the meeting the undertakers would have had a busy day. An attempt upon O'Brien's life would have been avenged upon every Orangeman within pistol range."

A number of the victims of the melancholy disaster at the Opera Comique were interred on Monday at the Church of Notre Dame. An oration was delivered by M Goblet.

HARSH EVICTION NEAR MACROOM.

ARREST OF THIRTEEN MEN.

BAILIFFS BREAK THE FURNITURE.

Macroom, Tuesday. To-day, a sheriff's bailiff, with Daniel Desmond, Upton, and Jeremiah Kelleher, of Prohus, bailiff to Mr James H Payne, of Beelmoont, with a force of 50 policemen, proceeded to Coshloura, a distance of about eight miles from Macroom, for the purpose of executing a decree for possession obtained at last Macroom Petty Sessions against Wm Riordan, of Coshloura, who had been admitted as caretaker after having been evicted about 12 months ago. The tenant held a farm of land at Coshloura from the late Mr W H Massey, Mountmassy, under lease, and considering the rent exorbitant, and ruinous he was struck against it unless he got a reasonable reduction. He would get none from the landlord, who proceeded against him by ejectment, and as has been said evicted him and afterwards let him in as caretaker. The widow of Mr Massey is proceeding in the same harsh manner as her late husband towards the tenants. On reaching the house of Mr Riordan, it was found that the door had been barricaded, and the bailiffs after an ineffectual attempt to force the door proceeded to smash the windows. During this operation hot water was poured upon them by those in the house, but the police aided the bailiffs in the promptest manner and forced an entrance into the house. Sub-constable Allister, of Macroom, made himself conspicuously officious and insulting. It is alleged that the bailiffs were badly beaten, and 13 men who were found in the house were arrested. It may be mentioned that the police brought with them from the evicted tenant's house a number of farming implements, such as plies, slanes, &c. After the arrests had been made the bailiffs proceeded to smash every article of furniture in the house in the most outrageous manner, and many articles of value were rendered quite useless.

A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY.

Glasgow, Thursday Night. Late to-night a horrible tragedy occurred at 20, Abington street, Glasgow, John Burns, 28, shooting with a revolver his mother-in-law, Catherine Boyle, or Leggett, and another woman Catherine Allan, or Steel. The first named woman, who had six shots in her neck, ears and head, soon died, but in her gasp she pointed to Burns, and said he did it. Catherine Allen, or Steel, was removed to hospital, while John Burns, who gave himself up to the police, is in custody. Prisoner states drink was the cause of his shooting the woman. Prisoner's wife does not live with him.

Sale of Farms.

On Saturday last, the sub-sheriff, Mr Thomas Huggard put up the following farms for sale in the court-house. The farm of Timothy Driscoll at the instance of the landlord, Sir M Fitzgerald, was first put up, and knocked down for £5 to Samuel Harris, plaintiff's representative. The next was the farm of Patrick Sullivan and Mathew Moroney at the instance of Robert Marshall Day which was knocked down for £5 to Richard Timony, plaintiff's representative. The next was the farm of Hanoria Shea, at the instance of the Marquis of Lansdowne which was knocked down to R Timony, plaintiff's representative at £5.

Scartaglin Fair.

This fair was held on the 17th May very largely supplied with cattle of all descriptions. Owing to the absence of strange buyers not much business was transacted. There was a large supply of first class milch cows and springers, prices varying from £9 to £11. Two year olds fetched from £6 to £8. Good yearlings at £4 10s. Young pigs 15s to £1 2s. The next fair will be held on the 17th July, when buyers will find it to their interest to attend.

Postage of Newspapers.

The Postmaster-General has acknowledged the receipt of a letter from the Provincial Newspaper Society, conveying a resolution carried at the recent annual meeting of the society in favour of the proposed farthing rate of postage for newspapers. In its communication the Provincial Newspaper Society states that lower rates prevail in other countries, and points out that the suggested reduction would not only widen the dissemination of public intelligence, but would eventually prove remunerative. Mr J Henniker Heaton, M.P., writing from Paris, promises at a later period to support any action taken by the society for cheapening the present postal rate on newspapers.

Boycotting the Police.

Kilrush, Monday. About fifty policemen were drafted into Kilrush under command of Mr Irwin, Resident Magistrate, for duty at Kilrush County meeting to denounce the impending evictions on the Vandeleur and other Clare estates. Since then, no earman would drive the police out of the town. The Government reporter was in this way up to to-night, although offering £3 for a car to Ennis. The other members of the Libs are also detained in town for the steamer to Limerick to-morrow.

"Abominable Wickedness."

Mr Seale Hayne, M.P., presiding at the Liberalist demonstration held at Ashburton on Tuesday afternoon, said the Jubilee year bore testimony to the fact that the Liberal party had been consistently in favour of reform. The Queen commenced her reign with acts of clonancy, and her accession to the Throne was now being signalled by a Coercion Act of abominable wickedness.

It is stated that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, who is at present in Italy, is in perfect health; in fact, so well that people are beginning to have a reasonable doubt as to whether he was ever ill at all. He is, notwithstanding his robustness, giving no indications of an anxiety to return to the office of Chief Secretary, which now hangs so heavily on the hands of Mr Arthur Balfour.

Mr Gladstone's Physical Strength.

A writer in London has been talking about Mr Gladstone's strength in his letter to one of the papers over the sea. He says:—"A medical gentleman who knows him very well—professionally, too, if I am not mistaken—tells me that he is still one of the strongest men, physically, in the whole gentry of England. It is a marvellous thing to see him stripped to the waist so superb in his frame, so notable in the absence of an ounce of superfluous flesh on the hard sinews and muscles. My informant added that, in his belief, there was scarcely a man in the House, young or old, whom Gladstone could not whip with his fists if he tried. This is an interesting illustration of the value of exercise which Americans would do well to ponder."

Fastest Steamers.

Another "fastest steamer in the world" has just been launched on the Clyde. The other day the Fairfield Company put into the water the Queen Victoria, which did 22 1/2 knots (25.62 miles) an hour on her trial trip. This speed has been exceeded by her sister paddle steamer the Prince of Wales, which steamed the measured distance at the rate of 24 1/2 knots (28 miles) an hour. This is a flying with a vengeance. Both boats are for the Liverpool and Isle of Man line, and commenced running on Saturday.

ENGLISH AGRICULTURAL PROSPECTS.

London, Tuesday. The "Mark Lane Express" says:—"Another week of cold winds with some rainfall has not improved the position of crops, and many of them have shown further loss of colour. For the last eight days there has been no change for the better, but to-day in London the weather is fine and the sun hot. Wheat is less affected than might be supposed, but they are no better than they were a week ago, whilst some show signs of rust, and crops, as a whole have had something tangible taken off their prospects. Wireworm appears to be making headways in some Lenten corn. With regard to trade, values have further hardened for native wheats, which in some markets have been delivered freely, whilst in others the supply has been very meagre, and in some provincial exchanges trade has been quoted firm, and in others 6d to 1s advance has had to be paid. In London there has scarcely been any notable advance, but values there, as generally throughout the country, have been against buyers. The flour trade continues firm notwithstanding large importations from America. Foreign wheats off stands in London were slow, but values were steady. Maize was also slow, with round corn in buyers favour. Barleys dull; oats cheaper."

The Ponsoby Evictions.

A little incident in connection with these evictions, though trifling, is, nevertheless, noteworthy. On last Friday when the bailiffs and emergency men were endeavouring to drive off some donkeys from Flavia's farm they were assisted by an over-officious policeman, unasked, named Constable Smyth stationed at Monkstown. On being noticed by the officer he was reprimanded, and when he reached his place in the ranks he was received with hisses, one policeman exclaiming, "do you want to become a landlord's tool like the Constable reporter in assisting the lums?" It is well that the true character of this policeman should be known as when at home in his station he is over denouncing evictions, and sympathising with the victims in all moods and tenses. Moryah! Herald.

Murderous Assault on a Policeman.

Limerick, Monday. A murderous assault was committed this evening on a policeman. Acting Sergeant Monegy and Constable Reardon were separating two men who were fighting in Ellen street, when a person in the crowd threw a broken bottle at the police. This missed its aim, but a second bottle struck Constable Reardon on the ear, splitting it and entering the skull. Reardon, who bled profusely, turned upon his assailant, and with Acting Sergeant Monegy managed to bring him to William street Barrack. The accused is Peter Condon, son of a shoemaker. Dr Shanahan was in immediate attendance on Constable Reardon.

MOONLIGHT OUTRAGE NEAR CASTLEISLAND.

Castleisland, Tuesday. About nine o'clock last night, a band of armed moonlighters visited the house of a farmer named Edmond Maguire, Kilsarkin, about four miles from here, and fired three shots through the doors. The police were only three hundred yards away from the house and heard the shots. They ran immediately to the scene, but to no use for all had fled. It is alleged that the young women there are suspected to be giving information to the police. No arrests have been made.

Mr Gladstone received a large number of excursionists at Hawarden Park on Tuesday afternoon, and after receiving an address from a deputation of Liberals from Crewe, he spoke briefly a few words to them on the subject of the Crimes Bill. His remarks were frequently interrupted by loud cheers, and he was warmly applauded at the conclusion. He pointed to the fact that in Ireland there was less crime in proportion to the population than in England or Scotland. He believed the majority of the electors were opposed to this Coercion Bill, and he regarded that bill as being itself a crime.

On Sunday last, after mass, four armed and disguised men, visited the house of a man named Maurice Savage, Tylock. Savage who was at home at the time of the attack, was threatened for supplying the police at Tylock but with milk and butter. The parties then fired a few shots through the roof of the house and decamped. Some police from Tralee visited the place on Monday, but no arrests were made.
